Gustavo Egea

Winemaker Bodega Renacer

EXPERIENCE AND ACADEMIC BIO

Gustavo Egea is a winemaker by tradition and conviction. His grandfather was a pioneer in the development of viticulture in the eastern area of Mendoza, and even built his own winery. His parents were also winemakers at wineries in that region, so Gustavo began his relationship with the world of wine since he was a child, accompanying his grandfather and parents every day in different tasks in the vineyard and winery. This is how his passion for the profession began.

He formally studied Oenology at Don Bosco University and continued his studies in the department of Junín, Mendoza, doing parallel harvest seasons in different wineries.

In 2010 he began working at Bodega Massi, and then at Bodega Luis Segundo Toso, performing various tasks and learning from great referents of oenology such as Daniel Mayorga. He is also a professor of agricultural technical subjects at Don Bosco University.

In his free time he enjoys trekking and mountain biking, as well as the countryside.
